Subject to Section 10.02 above, the total liability of either Party for all claims of any kind, whether based upon contract, tort (including negligence), warranty or otherwise, or for any loss, damage or other liability arising out of the performance or non-performance of its obligations under the Quote Documents will not exceed the greater of (i) the proceeds of insurance available for liabilities for which an insurance policy described in Article 8 responds; or (ii) [CDN $1,000,000]. Nothing in this Agreement will be construed so as to limit any defence or limitation of liability available to TAM or the TAM Group under statute, common law or international convention.

Article XI. Force Majeure

Section 11.01 Definition of Event of Force Majeure

For purposes of the Quote Documents, an “Event of Force Majeure” means an event that prevents, materially impairs or delays the performance by a Party (the “Affected Party”) of its obligations under the Quote Documents, other than its obligations to pay any amounts due thereunder when due, which event is beyond the reasonable control of the Affected Party to avoid or prevent. Events of Force Majeure may include acts of God, natural disasters, fires, explosions, floods, storms, public health emergencies, pandemics and epidemics; strikes, lockouts, work slowdowns, work stoppages and other labour disputes; war, sabotage, riots, insurrections, acts, omissions, orders or regulations of any civil or military authority or government or public health authority or any agency thereof; legislation and regulations, judgements or decisions of a court of law or other authority with the force of law, the inability to obtain or maintain any necessary Permits in any applicable jurisdiction; major equipment failure, power failures, failures in performance and disruptions in operations and agreements with third parties including Transporters.

Section 11.02 Effect of Event of Force Majeure

Notwithstanding anything else in the Quote Documents, an Affected Party may declare an Event of Force Majeure by delivering written notice to the other party setting out reasonable particulars of the event and its anticipated effect on the Affected Party's performance hereunder, whereupon the Affected Party's performance of its affected obligations (including also the corresponding obligations of the other Party) will be suspended for the duration of such Event of Force Majeure. The Affected Party shall (i) use commercially reasonable efforts to mitigate or overcome the Event of Force Majeure; and (ii) provide further written updates from time to time on its efforts to mitigate and overcome the Event of Force Majeure and anticipated timelines to resume performance of its affected obligations. If the Affected Party is unable to resume its affected obligations within three consecutive months after the date such obligation was to have been originally performed, then either Party may cancel all remaining obligations under these Terms by giving written notice to the other. Other than the right of termination in the preceding sentence, neither Party will have a claim for damages or specific performance or have any other right of action against the other Party as a result of the Event of Force Majeure, provided however that each Party will continue to be liable to pay any amount accruing or accrued payable by such Party for all obligations actually performed hereunder.

The place of arbitration shall be Saskatoon, Saskatchewan or such other place as may be agreed upon by those involved in the arbitration, and the language of the arbitration shall be English.
- (b) The decision of the arbitrator shall be rendered in writing with all reasonable expediency, and will not be subject to appeal to, or review, by certiorari or otherwise, by any court or tribunal whatsoever, provided however, that any Party may take any action in any court of competent jurisdiction to enforce such decision.

Section 13.07 Severability

Each of the provisions of the Quote Documents is severable and the invalidity or unenforceability of any one or more provisions of the Quote Documents will not affect the validity or enforceability of the remaining provisions. If any provision of the Quote Documents is held to be invalid, the Parties will amend the Quote Documents to reinstate the intent of the invalid provisions, to the degree it can be made valid.
